« If you are lucky enough to be approached by this awesome couple, say Yes!

We really loved having them around and what a difference they made getting stuck into some big projects, smiling, laughing and getting along great with each other and everyone else.

Between them they have a huge talent and they compliment each other well. They are also super easy and relaxed people to host.

Get them in the kitchen if you want some great meals too.

Go well lovely Frenchies! »

« Jeremie and Claire have lived with me since early April this year and worked as wwoofers. I found them to be eminently trustworthy and respectful of my property. Plus they are really nice people. I have hosted a considerable number of wwoofers over many years and I rate them in the top 1% of those.

I recommended them as house sitters to friends of mine and they have looked after their place since the beginning of July. I would happily speak to anyone considering them as house sitters and elaborate on their suitability. »

« Jeremie and Claire cared for and maintained our Studio Farm in the Wet Tropics for several weeks. They showed enormous degree of common sense, initiative and respect for the property and livestock. With a vital interest in clear communication and attention to details we found them wonderfully reliable, trustworthy and respectful caretakers.

Hardly a day goes past without us talking them up. People in our community have had their whole spirit charged with the little book and film they helped us make together. Both will be used in applications for substantial grants.

We miss our personal chef xox. »

« Loved everything about our stay at Lucy's :)

We got to practice our building skills and enjoy lovely moments with the whole family, including Georgie, their adorable ginger cat! Lucy is super friendly and easy going. She took us to different places and events, including a concert on the beach known by locals only. Delicious pizzas guaranteed!

We stayed for about 10 days with another couple and were pretty independent regarding the work to do. We dismantled one tiny house and helped with the insulation inside another one. It was very rewarding and a great team effort.

If you want to learn about tiny houses and spend some time with great people, this is the place to be! »

« Dan and Tina are two amazing souls and we are so happy we got to meet them and help caring for their gorgeous property. Their house is surrounded by lush jungle and incredible fauna, we couldn't wish for a better way to discover this part of Borneo.

We spent most of our time picking pineapples (the best we ever tasted), gardening and picking more amazing tropical fruits growing in their forest such as mangosteens, rambutans, langsats and durians. We also helped with some cool projects like building a small pond and restore beehives.

We got to practice our Malay, cuddle the lovely dog Bruno and went diving with Dan in Pulau Sapi. Every night, we shared stories together about their extensive diving experience and enjoyed delicious home made meals. »
